Swoon hosted its second annual Wear it Again Soirée on Sept. 18 to raise money for the Reno Cancer Foundation. Swoon, A Bridal Salon at 530 W. Plumb Lane, encouraged guests to dig out their wedding dresses, bridesmaid dresses, tuxes and all other wedding attire to walk the “White Carpet.” Swoon owner Michelle Depoali said she hosts the event because she hears from brides about how sad it is they can only wear their fabulous dresses one day.

About 120 people attended the event with hosted cocktails from St. James Infirmary. The grand prize raffle was a private flight and dinner with attorney Mark Gunderson to Mendocino, Calif. Awards for best shoes, most dashing couple and worst bridesmaid dress also were given out.

About $4,000 was raised with proceeds helping local women fighting reproductive cancers. Depoali says she is passionate about the cause because she lost her mother to cancer in 2007.
